

In response to your inquiry into alternative fish and agriculture feeds, we generate approximately two tons of broken shellfish (cracked shells with meat inside) everyday. They are mostly mussels and some clams and oysters. Could they be incorporated into a fish or agriculture feed?

Bill Silkes, President

American Mussel Harvesters, Inc.